'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

Hallowe'en will soon be upon us and some stores in Richmond are getting ready their displays for the Hallowe'en parties.

* * * *

Hallowe'en reminds us of a story we once heard. A father took his young son in hand on Hallowe'en and told him the meaning of the day.

* * * *

In concluding his talk, Papa made the remark that "Hallowe'en isn't what it used to be. You know, when I was a boy we made things hum on Hallowe'en. We used to take down fences, hang the gates on trees, upset sheds and everything. Those were the days of real sport. And how we used to get a bang out of hearing some of the people cuss when they found their dog house up on top of the roof. Heh! Heh!"

* * * *

Taking this tip, the youngster that night, aided by several boy friends, worked out on his papa's house, moving dog houses, sheds, garages, fences, fence posts and what have you.

* * * *

The next morning papa took one look at the front yard, sat down on the porch and started to talk to no one in particular. It is said that several black marks were placed after his name in the Good Book as a result of this conversation.

* * * *

Some of you ex-service men will never forget the infirmary at your army champ.

* * * *

In the morning, after breakfast, the company bugler oils up his lungs and blows the sick call. The top sergeant of the company, swaggers down the company street, blows his whistle several times and shouts, "Come on you sick, lame and lazy. Si-i-i-ck call. Turn out."

* * * *

And the lineup forms . . . the sick, the would be sick and the lazy get in line and march to the infirmary.

* * * *

Here a lineup awaits outside of the door. Here is a chap who is blowing his nose and informinb the world that he has a "codt id hid headt." Another doughboy has a bandaged ankle; another with bunions and so on down the line.

* * * *

They file inside of the spotlessly clean room where several doctors, looking business like in field uniforms, with boots and spurs (all dentists wear spurs in the army for some reason. And after one works out on you for a while, you know why.)

* * * *

Above the gentle hum of conversation from outside the room comes the business drones of the doctors, "Paint him with iodine and mark him duty . . . Give him a coupla C. C. pills . . ." and then the sweetest sound in the world to a lazy doughboy . . . "Paint him with iodine and mark him very light duty."

* * * *

The old phrase of "Paint him with iodine and mark him duty?" is one that will remain in the minds of every soldier. As a result there is always a story about some doctor making this remark.

* * * *

The most famous one is the poor chap who fell over a thousand foot cliff, broke his neck, his legs, his arms, fractured his skull and had internal injuries. And the doctor murmurred as he saw him, "Paint him with iodine and mark him duty."

POLICE RAID INSITUTION

BERKELEY, Oct. 23.—Led by Sheriff M. B. Driver a raid was conducted today on the Bohannon Cancer institute, 1813 University avenue and two men taken into custody on charges of conspiracy to violate the state medical practice act.

The two men held in Berkeley jail in lieu of $5,000 bond each are Grover C. Bohannon, son of the founder of the institute, and Dr. A. D. Crow, resident physician.

Warrants charging that the men had administered narcotics, been brutal, used profanity, and malpractice of medicine were issued by Police Judge Oliver Youngs after a secret visit to the place by Sheriff Driver and his aides where they talked with five patients early this morning, without the knowledge of the two men held in prison.

Mrs. Mamie L. Davis, Oakland, was the trained nurse who arranged for the early morning visit to the institution.

Bohannon is not a physician it was reported after the raid by the sheriff's deputies. It was also charged that Bohannon used instruments to perform operations which were for the removal of cancer.

With Driver in his raid were his chief criminal deputy, Frank Swain, Assistant District Attorney J. Paul St. Sure, and George Helms, captain of county detectives.

Brazil Rebel Troops Beaten By Federalists

ITARARE, SAO PAULO-PARANA BORDER, Oct. 23.—UP—Fierce fighting in northern Parana state was reported in an official comunique issued by the federalist field headquarters today which declared the rebels retreated with heavy losses.

The communique declared the rebel dead and wounded totaled 1000 men and that 500 rebels had been taken prisoner.

The federalist casualties were not listed.

The battle resulted in a decisive federal victory, according to the federal leaders. Federalist troops, reinforced by Sao Paulo state militiamen, at present are pushing rapidly south and east toward Jaguarahyva, important railway junction on the way toward Curityba, capital of Parana state.

The fighting along this front is about 420 miles south of Rio de Janeiro.

The communique asserted that federal forces were nearing Jacuarahyva, and that they expected to take the city within a week. Rebel resistance was faltering. The federals insisted, and the advance into Parana state just south of Sao Paulo was now proceeding without considerable opposition.

Itarare today was the scene of intense excitement as the victory was proclaimed and more troops arrived at the concentration encampment here.

Scattered units of rebel forces along the Parana-Sao Paulo front have surrendered, the federal military authorities said.

The general staff issued a bulletin claiming federal planes had been bombing northern sectors along the Parana front for the past week, and that they had destroyed much of the railway lines along the Sao Paulo-Rio Grande railroad.

Bridges and reservoirs had been destroyed by the air raids, the staff announcement proclaimed, and Jaguarahyva subjected to a heavy aerial bombardment. The federals have eight combination combat and bombing planes at Itarare. They support the infantry units and aid in patrolling the border.

DRIFTING BOAT STIRS INQUIRY

MONTEREY, Oct. 23.—Drifting off shore an unmanned fishing boat was found 34 miles south of here by R. Sakino, skipper of a fishing boat.

Towed to shore the boat was found to be registered in the name of Rangvald Jakobsen, 44 whose last address was 421 Drumm street San Francisco. Inquiry at that address failed to reveal his identity.

On the boat was found two suitcases, a pair of leather shoes, a pair of rubber boots, and a good supply of food. No liquor or signs of a struggle were in evidence, William Kaliher, deputy fish and game commissioner, in charge of the investigation said.

The boat had been sighted a week ago by a farmer near Monterey, and one man was aboard, Kaliher reported. Sakino, who towed the boat to shore, said that the frayed end of the anchor rope was trailing in the water when he found the craft which is numbered C-389.

HIGH COURT WILL RULE ON PLEA

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23-(UP)—The state supreme court decided late today that it would hear arguments by the state against a new trial for Alexander Pantages, wealthy theater owner, whose conviction on a charge of attacking Eunice Pringle was recently ruled illegal by the state appellate court.

In refusing to uphold the appellate court's ruling immediately the supreme court failed to say when it would hear the arguments. It was presumed they would be given during a session of the court in Los Angeles.

The supreme court had the power to deny the petition of the state for a right to present arguments against a new trial, in which case a rate for Pantages' re-trial would have been set in the Los Angeles superior court in a short time.

By the action it took, however, all points raised before the appellate court must be offered to the supreme court at some further date. When the hearing is concluded the matter will be taken under advisement and an opinion will be handed down later either affirming the appellate courts decision of nullifying it.

The states decision to accept the states petition was a routine matter. It was announced in a regulation form printed for such cases and there were no remarks amended on it.

Pantages was convicted in Los Angeles and sentenced to San Quentin State prison. He is at liberty on bail pending outcome of his appeal.

The apellate court, in granting him a new trial, subject to later approval of the supreme court in case the state appealed, ruled that defense attorneys were correct in citing alleged errors of law and practice during the original trial.

LONE BANDIT ROBS STATION OF SMALL SUM

A lone bandit early last night held up an attendant at a service station at Thirty-seventh street and Macdonald avenue and escaped with $10.

The robbery was reported by Leo Giovannetti, 418 Pacific avenue, who works at the station.

The attendant told police that at an early hour last night a man appeared at the station and engaged him in conversation. They talked for almost an hour. The man, so Giovannetti told police, claimed that he knew him, although the attendant said he had never seen him before.

When 9 o'clock came, Giovannetti placed part of the day's receipts in a money bag and locked up the station.

His companion seeing that no one was in sight, suddenly drew a gun and ordered the attendant to hand over the money. When he complied with the request, the bandit fled down Thirty-seventh street and disappeared into the darkness.

Police were unable to obtain a good description of the lone holdup man.

With Mrs. Axtell was a student of her class who delivered a talk on Nathan Hale which was declared by members of the post, one of the best biographies they had ever heard presented to them. Mrs. Axtell was also highly lauded for her message.

FOG FORCES LINDY DOWN

McKEESPORT, Pa., Oct. 23.—UP Col. Charles A. Lindbergh emerged safely today from one of the most difficult of his airplane flights, and gave a lesson in judgement to less cold-blooded pilots.

Lindbergh was to fly from Newark airport, N. J., to Columbus, O., on a tour of inspection of the new passenger-mail route of the transcontinental-Western Air company over the Alleghany mountains, which are known as the "aviator's graveyard."

He ended up here, after fighting an impenetrable snowstorm and decided to turn back. It took him 13 minutes to find the field, so heavy was the fall of snow.

Lindbergh arrived at Harrisburg, Pa., at 12:43 without incident. He landed at Bettie field here at 12:55 p. m. There was a light rain mingled with snow and a heavy fog. Flying conditions were generally bad, but not bad enough, Lindbergh decided, to preclude a start.

The roar of a plane was heard over the field 55 minutes later, and after 15 minutes of circling thru snow and fog Lindbergh came down with the big Ford plane to a safe landing at 2:40.

It was disclosed, when he landed, that during the whole 70 minutes he was in the air, Lindbergh had been fighting for every mile he made. The snow became blinding, and low hanging clouds made conditions worse as the plane went over the dangerous mountains between here and Steubenville, O. In the vicinity of Cambridge, O., conditions were so bad that Lindbergh decided it was wise to turn back, though he was only 35 flying minutes from Columbus, his destination.

Richmond war veterans today are preparing for one of the largest Armistice day celebrations ever to be held in the city of Richmond.

With commanders of four veteran organizations in this city taking charge of the program, the entire city of Richmond is expected to turn out enmasse to witness the event on Tuesday, Nov. 11.

A gigantic parade is one of the features planned here for the day, it was intimated yesterday.

Parade Planned

Veterans wearing the uniforms that they wore on the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month of 1918, will once more shoulder their arms and march to the martial strains of the bands. Red Cross nurses, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, City Councilmen, and civic and fraternal organizations will all join in the parade.

The route of march and the name of the grand marshall of the event will be made public at a near date.

Following the parade the spectators and paraders will gather at the Memorial park where there will be a program of patriotic talks, and music.

Program Planned

Speakers for the day are being arranged for by the veteran committees.

Four veteran organizations in Richmond will take charge of the event. With this cooperation there is no doubt but that the event will be a big success.

Dr. L. R. Sears, past commander of Richmond post No. 10, American Legion; Sam S. Kelly, past commander of the Honor post. Veterans of Foreign Wars; Thomas Nee, commander of the United Spanish War Veterans; Admiral Dewey camp, and E. Martin, commander of the United Veterans of the Republic post here, are the members of the general committee in charge. The Allied War Veterans council will assist the group.

At a future time, further announcements regarding the parade and program will be made.

Unknown Blamed In Auto Death

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 23.—UP—Blame for the death of Mrs. Eva J. Monor, 73, here last night was placed more on an unidentified driver than on Samuel D. Baker, of Milwaukie, Ore., whose car actually struck the aged woman.

An unidentified driver swerved almost directly in Baker's path, a witness of the accident reported. Baker was blinded by headlights from the unknown car, and, while swinging wide to avoid it, struck Mrs. Monor. Mrs. Monor was knocked down and trapped beneath the wheels and died in a nearby house.

Famous Pilots Talk On Radio

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—UP—With radio fans of Australia and the United States listening in, wing Commander Charles Kingsford-Smith talked today from Sydney, N. S. W., to Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker in New York and Martin P. Rice, General Electric company official, in Schenectady.

From the American points went a series of congratulations on the Australian flier's newest exploit—that of racing his plane from England to his home, a distance of 12,000 miles, in less than 10 days. From Sydney came modest disclaimers such as the comment that the flight "was just a little bit of hard work" and the refutation: "I am just an ordinary sort of fellow."

The Australian pilot told Rice he believed that there would be a passenger air service between England and Australia in five or ten years. He foresaw the establishment of a mail route first, he said.

JOBLESS MAN KILLS SELF

OAKLAND, Oct. 23.—Out of work and relying upon the wages of his wife to feed himself and his two children, William O. Kaiser of 2154 Forty-eighth avenue had taken his life with chloroform today. His body was found in Lakeside park by two men who discovered a mask over which the death-dealing fluid had been poured.

The body was found in a vacant booth in the concessions pavillion by John and Frank Creur, 9606 Derby street. The mask was still damp with the chloroform, and the body was still warm. An empty chloroform bottle lay near the dead man.

A note addressed "to anyone" asked the police be notified and plans for cremation be made. The note also asked that L. Streeter, 3527 Colinda avenue, be notified.

RICHMOND HIGH ELEVEN WILL PLAY TODAY

The Navy Blue and Red warriors of Richmond Union High school and the famed Yellowjackets of Berkeley High school will strike for victory this afternoon on the Richmond High school field in the first game of the Alameda County Athletic league football season.

The crowd of more than 1000 that will probably be present at today's "big game" will witness a classic battle between a team recognized as a championship outfit and an eleven that has had its portion of hard luck.

The Yellowjackets will come to Richmond this afternoon the owners of one of the greatest high school football reputations in the state. Berkeley has not lost a single game this season. It has defeated Richmond every year thruout several years of competition, although its victories were always won by slim margins.

The Richmond varsity will go onto the field today with several defeats behind them. Their opponents are ranked as favorites in today's battle.

Yet, the warriors of Richmond high will carry a dangerous, potential threat to the thus-far-perfect record of the Berkeley athletes. They are now "fighting mad." Stung by their failures during the first part of this season and riled by Richmond's successive defeats at the hands of the Berkelyans, the local gridders will go into action with strong determination and a football education gained in the school of hard knocks. There is also the added urge to retrieve their record for this season by wading through exceptional competition toward the title of the Alameda County Athletic league. Furthermore, this is the Richmond boys' first football season in the league, and they are consequently fired with the ambition of a squad about to embark for the first time upon a tempestous yet worth-while task.

Ivan Hill, former varsity coach at Richmond Union High school, stated in a stirring address given at a pep rally of the student body yesterday morning that he believed Richmond has only had a little difficulty with a new system and that it will be able to take strong opposition down the line during the remainder of the season as a result of the strategy that it has learned this term.

The Richmond Uuion high school varsity will consist of a strong first string that has been gradually shaped during the past months. In the backfield there will be Scarsella, quarterback; Masek and Stoddard, halfbacks, and Baskett fullbacks. Masek will today return to action after a period of rest due to injuries received more than a month ago.

A strengthened line will face Berkeley today. Gerletti and Juillerat will handle the end zones, while Westman and Ball will do the tackling jobs. Hoeffer and Baxter will see action at guard, while Brignone will occupy the pivot position.

The key to the Berkeley offense is "Chilly" Bertoli, halfback. He has a strong partner in Wallace Hector, fullback and Kikman, quarterback, will compose the remainder of the strong Berkeley backfield.

The lineup for Richmond in today's battle will be as follows: Gerletti, 36, Juillerat, 35, ends; Westman, 45, Ball, 48, tackles; Hoeffer, 46, Baxter, 52, guards; Brignone, 43; Scarsella 38, quarterback; Masek 39, Stoddard 47, halfbacks; and Baskett 49, fullback.

The Richmond substitutes are: Lilly, 40, Hall, 42, Corazzo, 51, Rosano 44, Snodgrass 37, Passoni 41, G. Miller R. Drexel, Boschetti, R. Miller, C. Drexel, Klobas, Avilla, Pizialli, Robak, Polest, Horton, Bravin and Gardner.

The starting lineup for Berkeley in today's contest will be as follows: Dutton 25, Kendall 41, ends; Luther 35, Chase 31, tackles; Burri 17, Goodrich 21, guards; Ball 20, center; Kirkman 15, quarterback; Wallace 10, Bertoli 33, halfbacks; and Hector 34, fullback.

The Berkeley substitutes are: Vallejo 2, Allen 3, Dunbar 4, Newman 5, Armstrong 9, Wickstrom 11, Hopson 12, Small 14, Ransome 16, Davis 18, Stevenson 19, Beedy 24, Gustafson 26, Gore 27, Fisher 28, Dennis 32, Duffy 26, Kendall 41, Romenberg, 49, Maggert 60, Barnett 61, Giorno 64, Poulson 66, and Kirk 67.

These lineups are subject to change by the coaches of Berkeley and Richmond High schools.

Football Pep Rally Held At High School

Loyal cries of "Richmond High" echoed and re-echoed across the Richmond Union High school football field yesterday morning when the entire school participated in an enthusiastic pep rally held on the bleachers prior to the annual contest between Richmond and Berkeley High schools.

Ivan W. Hill, former Richmond Union High school coach, and at present city recreational director, spoke before the students. He commended them upon their support of their team, and stated that the people of Richmond would also give the Richmond eleven their full support at the game to be played this afternoon on the local gridiron. Hill was introduced by Jack Stoddard, rally committee chairman.

Harman Jatta, Bill Young and Jack McLean led the student body in school yells and singing, while the school band played throughout the rally.

Trojan, Card Contest Will Attract Crowd

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23, UP—In nearly every comunity of the state there was an annual mobilization of football fans tonight and from far distant points organized groups started for Palo Alto to see the important conflict Saturday between University of Southern California and Stanford.

Banded together they will fill 88,000 seats in Stanford stadium. The Stanford Cardinals, after a breif signal drill, left their campus this evening and were evasive when asked where they would stay until game time. Southern California's Trojans will arive from Los Angeles Friday.

Good Chance

Every asset and liability of each varsity has been considered since the season started and there seems to be only one conclusion—either team has a chance to win. Even presuming that both elevens play their best games of the year in the one afternoon, there is little choice between them.

The Trojans have an offensive built around their quarterbacks, Marshall Duffield and Orv Mohler, with other backs regarded as the best interference runners of the far west. Stanford's backs play more as individuals, each of them performing every duty that can be assigned to them and depending upon the decentiveness of their plays to gain, Phil Moffatt is their star.

Records of past performances by the teams are of litle value. In eleven times they have met only once has one of them made more than three touchdowns, U. S. C. having been victorious in 1918 by a score of 25 to 8, and 17 points has been the greatest margin of victory in these previous contests. An average of all scores in the past shows that the Trojans have been four and one third points better than the Cardinals per game.

Cards Undefeated

There are two other reasons that this game has become a classic of the west, second only to the "Big Game" between California and Stanford. It has been built up by the prominence of the coaches and by sectional rivalry. In five years that Howard Jones has been at U. S. C. and Glenn Warner at Stanford the Trojans have won twice, the Cardinals twice, and Stanford tied one in the last minute. Interest is not confined to graduates of the two schools, for the Trojans are claimed by all of Southern California and Stanford is a true defender of the North. In Elections these sections may be divided internally but in football the man who publicaly selects the team outside his region invites criticism.

Stanford is the only undefeated team in California and a victory over U. S. C. would make the Cards a favorite to tie with Washington State college for the Coast Championship. The Trojans have been beaten once. They were conquered by Washington State a week ago after the staters had defeated University of California.

LEGION ELEVEN WILL PLAY AT PETALUMA

Smarting from its defeat at the hands of the Antioch American Legion eleven last Sunday, the Richmond post team is preparing to avenge its set-back when it meets the Petaluma eleven there Sunday afternoon.

Dan 'Hap' Bradley, manager of the team, stated last night that the local team will meet at the Elks building at eleven o'clock Sunday morning to make the trip.

The local eleven has had fair luck this year. It has met four teams so far this season and has won two games, lost one and tied one.

This will be the opening game of the season for the Petaluma eleven and manager Bradley expressed confidence last night that his charges would win.

Samples is fortunate in that he has two of the brainiest quarterbacks in this section—'Gidge' Cornell and Maynard Youngs. Cornell was a member of the famous high school wonder team that defeated some of the best football elevens in the state not so many years ago. Youngs, an Oakland product, has been playing headsup ball with the local team.

A large number of Richmond rooters will accompany the boys on the trip.

Grid Players Demand Pay At South Colleges

NEW YORK, Oct. 23. —UP—That old bogey of professionalism long a trouble-maker in amateur athletics, popped up on the football fields of two colleges today.

It was just as the 1929 season of football was drawing to a close that someone came out with a proposal that college football players should be paid for their efforts.

This suggestion would have seemed novel enough in itself, but it appeared doubly so coming as it did many weeks after the now famous "Carnegie report" had been written of, thought about and commented upon.

A couple of months ago the junior chamber of commerce in Macon, Ga., listened to an address in which the speaker voiced the proposal that star players be induced to come to Mercer, home university of Macon, and thus give Mercer the advertising now enjoyed by such colleges as Georgia Tech, Georgia and other leading southern conference schools.

Now, it seems, some of the boys on far flung fronts have injected a note of frankness into this hitherto some what subtle subject.

At Washington five members of the Freshman football squad of George Washington University were today suspended from participation in the school's Athletic program following what was termed an insurrection at which players were said to have demanded salaries in addition to free tuition and free board.

And at Columbia, Mo., faculty representatives of the big six conference schools were reportedly facing strife over athletic recruiting. The big six has a meeting Friday. Reports have it that the University of Kansas is marked for special scrutiny because of the status of Jim Bausch, a big back who is speedy and keeps moving after he hits enemy lines.

Bausch left Wichita University to enter the Kansas classrooms and to disport on Kansas athletic fields. He is a salesman for a Kansas life insurance company headed by a Kansas alumnus.

Kansas had only a fairish team one year ago, winning four games, and losing four. This season Kansas has been unbeaten in three starts.

Soccer Club Draws Bye In League

All will be quiet on the local soccer football front this weekend as a result of the drawing of a bye for this Sunday by the Richmond Soccer club.

Because of this lull in league competition, the local athletes will hold a practice session Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock at Nicholl park.

Salt Lake City Smoke Nusiance To Be Curbed

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah.—Hardened householders who can almost build furnace fires in their sleep will become pupils of schoolboys this winter in the art of building smokeless fires.

Salt Lake City has a smoke problem. During cold winter mornings a black pall settles down over the city, soils collars and leaves its dusky mark in thousands of homes and buildings. One can't see beyond a block.

The trouble originates in furnaces. There's a right way and a wrong way to build soft coal fires and municipal authorities are determined to teach citizens how to lay a fire that will cause a minimum of smoke.

Accordingly school children will patrol residential sections in the early mornings. When they see a stack issuing billows of black smoke, they will ring the doorbell and politely suggest corrective measures. If the householder objects, the matter is reported to municipal authorities, who will take forcible measures to show the offending fire builder how it's done.

Bear Frosh To Meet Bronco Frosh Saturday

BERKELEY, Oct. 23.—With no victories to their credit and with the sting of a 27 to 0 defeat at the hands of teh Southern California yearlings still keenly felt, the University of California freshmen will throw the full force of their pent up ire against the Santa Clara college freshmen Saturday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock in the California Memorial stadium.

The Southern California game was fatal to the Bears in more ways than one. Besides losing the game, the California freshmen lost one of the most promising players on the team. Carroll Ellwood, who had worked up from a third string player at the beginning of the season to first-string fullback just prior to last Saturday's game, received a fractured ankle during the fracas, and now he is definitely out of the lineup for the season.

With the Bronco freshmen out to avenge the 19 to 7 defeat handed their bigger brothers by the California varsity early in the season, and with the coach, Roy Riegels, priming his Bear babes in an effort to stave off being whitewashed in his first year of coaching, the game promises to be a good one.

Chicago Gang Leader Slain

CHICAGO, Oct. 23—Joe Aiello, notorious north side gangster and rival of Scarface Al Capone, was ambushed tonight as he left an apartment on the west side and killed by a volley of more than 50 machine gun bullets.

Aiello was a leader of the north side mob along with George Bugs Moran, and the late Jake Zuta. Zuta was killed shortly after the murder of Lingle, which he and his friends were said to have planned.

Moran was arrested earlier this week on a vagrancy warrant, when he returned from a four months absence.

Aiello also was president of the Unione Sicillione, notorious Italian fraternal body, all of whose heads in the last ten years have been assassinated.

HOLLYWOOD IN WIN OVER ANGELS

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 23.—UP—Hollywood won its second consecutive game from Los Angeles, 14 to 12, today in the second of their post-season contests for the championship of the Pacific Coast baseball league.

Pitcher George Hollerson, who relieved for Hollywood, won his own game in the seventh when his home run scored two men ahead and gave the Stars a 13 to 11 advantage that assured them of victory.

It was another slugging match such as the first game Wednesday in which Hollywood triumphed, 9 to 8. A total of 43 runs has been scored in 17 1-2 innings.

Six Homers

There were six home runs today, one for Los Angeles by Harper and others for Hollywood by Shellenback, Severid, Hollerson and Barbee, the latter getting two. The Angels used four pitchers and Hollywood two, Walsh being charged with the loss and Hollerson getting credit for the victory.

Starting the seventh inning the teams were tied, 10-all. The Angels took a lead in the eighth when Dittmar's walk and singles by Hannah and Walsh put them ahead, 11 to 10. But in the last half Hollerson hit a home run scoring Heath and Severid, who had singled. These three runs gave Hollywood a lead it never lost.

Los Angeles went into the lead with two runs in the first half of the second inning. Schulmerich singled to right and Jacobs sacrificed. Statz singled through second, scoring Schulmerich, and took second on a balk. Dittmar was out at first base and then Statz scored on Hannah's single. Ballou fanned.

Short Lead

The lead was short lived, Hollywood getting in front in the third, 3 to 2, with three runs, driving Ballou from the mound. After Hill flied out, Shellenbach drove a homer over the left field wall. Gazella singled and scored on Lee's double to center. Brannan's single to center scored Lee when Barbee singled through second, Carroll Yerkes replaced Ballou on the mound for the Angels. He retired Carlyle on strikes and Heath grounded out.

Hollywood, too, held the advantage but briefly. In the first of the fourth Los Angeles got six runs with two men out and led, 8 to 3. Schulmerich lined out infield and Jacobs flied to right to open the inning. Then Statz walked and went to third on Dittmar's single. Hannah walked. Yerkes scored Statz and Dittmar with a single. Haney singled to right, scoring Hannah. Harper's home run over the right field fence scored Yerkes and Haney ahead. Moore was safe on Brannan's error and then Schulmerich made his second out of the inning, a fly to left.

Lead Cut

A run in the Hollywood half of the inning cut the score to 8 to 4, after Bassler lined out. Hill singled to center. Shellenback struck out. Gazella doubled to right, scoring Hill and Lee flied out.

Each team scored in the fifth, Los Angeels twice and Hollywood four times, to keep the Angels in front, 10 to 8.

For Los Angeles, Jacobs struck out, Statz singled to center, Dittmar singled to center and then Hannah scored them both with a single to left. Hollerson replaced Shellenback and Yerkes promptly touched him for a single. But Haney hit into a double play.

George Von Elm To Play First Pro Contest

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah., Oct. 23.—UP—George Von Elm, one of the nation's leading golfers, will make his debut as a professional in Salt Lake City's $500 open tournament which opens tomorrow.

Von Elm, one of the golfers who have beaten Bobby Jones in a 36-hole tournament match, decided recently to quit the amateur ranks because of financial reasons.

He announced traveling across continent for the privilege of winning silver trophies involved too much expense. Henceforth he will attempt to commercialize his skill as a professional.

Nearly a score of noted pros will participate in the tournament. The list includes Walter Hagen, "Lighthorse" Harry Cooper, Chicago; Craig Wood, New York; Mel Smith, Portland; Abe Espinosa, Chicago; Haro'd McSpadden, New York, and Jimmy Thompson, Colorado.

How Old Are You?

Joy With Life I Freely Mix— I'm 46

Not a care in the world but one—and that's getting to be a big one—It's really a shameful calamity—I'm getting fat—I'm worrying—What shall I do?

"Easy come, easy go," as the coal heaver remarked. It's only too true that it's easy to gain fat—but on the other hand it isn't so very hard to lose it.

First of all you must remember to take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning.

This a big help; for out of your system goes the harmful acid and toxins and into your liver, bowels and kidneys goes that healthy activity that banishes minor ailments.

Cut out candy, cake, pastry and sweet deserts—cut down on potatoes, sugar, cream and cheese—eat vegetables, lean meat, chicken and fish.

It only costs 85 cents for a bottle of Kruschen Salts that will last four weeks and one bottle will prove that the Kruschen method is the most sensible of all.

A West Virginia woman writes—I have been taking Kruschen Salts for 2 weeks—have reduced from 175 to 159½ pounds—I have recommended it to many people—I have no more headaches and never get short of breath.

Get Kruschen Salts at La Moine Drug Co. or any drug store in the world.

Raskob Scored In Collapse Of Stock Market

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—UP— A Republican reply to the charge of Governor Franklin Roosevelt of New York that Secretary Mellon promoted the 1929 stock boom today included a counter-charge that Chairman John J. Raskob of the Democratic national committee "encouraged the public to continue the orgy of speculation."

The reply was made by Senator Henry D. Hatfield, Repn., W. Va., through the Republican national committee.

"As early as seven months before the crash," he said, "Secretary Mellon, greatly concerned as to the misleading advice being given the public to invest their money in common stocks, made a public statement advising it was a very good time to buy bonds and cautioning investors as to the prices of common stocks."

Raskob, Hatfield said, was "actually encouraging stock speculation" a little more than two months before the crash.

U. C. To Erect $80,000 Plant At La Jolla

LA JOLLA, Oct. 23.—Final plans for the $80,000 laboratory to be erected at the University of California Scripps institution of oceanography here, were announced today by director T. Wayland Vaughan.

The new laboratory will be 46 feet in width, and 100 feet in length. It will contain two stories and a basement. The site of the projected building will be 40 feet north of the present library building, with its rear wall in direct line with that of the library building.

This location, made necessary by the fact that future plans for the institution provide for an aquarium building and another laboratory to fill out the four corners of a square, will require the removal of the main road through the campus to a patch 40 feet each of the new laboratory building.

In preparation for the proposed aquarium building for the proposed aquarium building which it is hoped will be built within a few years, the present salt water tank tower will be torn down and more adequate facilities installed for a salt water supply.

One Held In Vice Ring Probe

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—UP— A slender, well dressed police stool pigeon, known as "The Dove" in defference to the translation of his sur-name of Taube, was questioned by authorities today in connection with a charge that a vice ring has made a practice of luring women into arrest on charges of immorality.

Louis Taube, the allegations added, personally profited to the extent of $500,000 in 15 years through the operations of the ring.

Reports were that Taube's business was to trap women, many of them innocent, tip off police and supervise the raids. He was said to have been paid $60 a week by the police as a stool pigeon, $10 from bail bond concerns for every woman trapped and a split on the profits of bondsmen and attorneys.

ECLIPSE SHOTS SOON TO BE READY

NIAFOU ISLAND, Oct. 23.—UP —Great care was taken by scientists here tonight as they started to develop 112 photographic plates upon which the total eclipse of the sun was recorded Tuesday.

Ice and dioxide gas were used for cooling the chemical solutions they were using in the work, the unusual precautions being required in the tropical climate of this South Sea island.

Commander C. H. J. Keppler of the United States navy and other members of the naval expedition were elated over the results they had obtained.

Members of the new Zealond expedition considered their results as equally successful and comparison will be made later of the plates taken by the two groups.

Several nights will be requested to develop the 112 plates, from five by seven inches to 24 by 24 inches in size.

All instruments were working perfectly during the eclipse.

The shadow of the moon as the sun passed behind it was seen both before and after the period of totality.

Preliminary study, scientists said, has shown bands one inch wide and eight inches apart.

During the eclipse the direction of motion was north-northwest at a speed of 12 miles an hour, and the direction of the wind was east by north.

Natives remained quiet while the sun was hidden, standing several hundred yards from the scientists' camp. They were apprehensive about the possibility of an eruption in the volcano in the island.

Only one earthquake shock has been recorded by the seismograph since the expedition reached here.

In addition to the photographic plates exposed during the eclipse, motion picture cameramen reported they had been rewarded for their work.

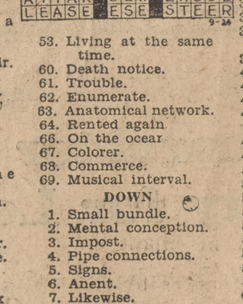
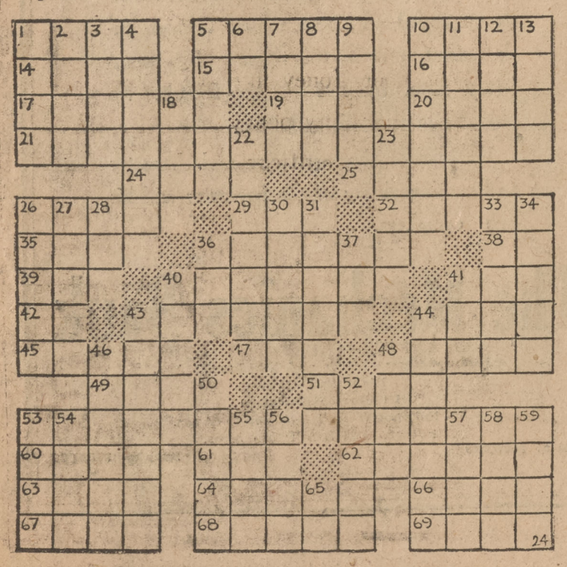
YESTERDAY'S ANSWER





ZELMA O'NEAL STARRED IN FILM

Injecting slap-stick vocal effects into tuneful melodies "just to make my sister laugh" started Zelma O'Neal, red-haired, blue-eyed, originator of the "Varsity Drag" on a stage and screen career which has made her one of the most delightful comediennes of the day.

Miss O'Neal is now in Hollywood having just completed the feminine comedy role in Paramount's new all Technicolor filmization of Schwab and Mandel's Broadway sensation, "Follow Thru." She started her clowning in the stage production of "Follow Thru," with Jack Haley, who is also seen in the talking picture supporting the stars, Charles Rogers and Nancy Carroll.

This pert little package of laughs did not start out in life to be funny—she just grew that way. Indeed when she left high school, life was a very serious business to her. She had to mold her requirements to an exacting family budget. Her first job was sorting patterns for the Butterick company in Chicago, but she studied typewriting and filing, and, during lunch hours, she would steal away to watch the telephone operator at work.

Those hours of study landed her a job as telephone operator and typist. At home, she and her younger sister, Bernice, used to play piano and sing together, Bernice playing and singing the tunes straight, Zelma putting in the vocal harmonies. These two secured a job plugging songs at a music store, and thus began Zelma O'Neal's public career. A vaudeville scout caught her during a comedy moment and the 'Glycerine Sisters' as they called themselves, were doing an act in vaudeville before they knew it.

In Hollywood, the O'Neal sisters are still together, Bernice playing a bit in "Follow Thru."

U. C. Symphony Will Give First Concert Oct. 28

BERKELEY, Oct. 23.—The program for the first concert of the university symphony orchestra, which will inaugurate its eighth season Tuesday evening, October 28, at 8 o'clock, in Harmon gymnasium, on the Berkeley campus, was announced today by Dr. Modeste Alloo, conductor.

The program will consist of compositions from the romantic and classical schools. The first number will be Haydn's symphony in D major followed by Concerto No. 1 in E flat major for pianoforte and orchestra by Liszt. The final composition will be Mendelssohn's symphony No. 4, "Italian." Guest artist for the evening will be Charles Cooper, who is regarded as one of the most vivid pianists on the concert stage of today.

The symphony orchestra, established for the purpose of fostering the appreciation of music, and under the direction of the department of music of the University of California, will give additional concerts in January and April, it is announced.

BEBE DANIELS IN FILM PLAY AT THE FOX

Absorbing as life's own tangles is the theme problem Bebe Daniels faces in her new film, "Lawful Larceny," coming tomorrow to the Fox-California Theater.

Probably no picture of the current season has drawn interest of women so widely as this new Daniels show, adapted to the screen from the Samuel Shipman stage hit.

Bebe plays the part of a wife who turns the tables on a love thief. Having lost her husband to the other woman, Bebe finds revenge and profit by stealing the other woman's lover.

Sharing honors with Bebe is Lowell Sherman in the part of the vamp's philanedring boy friend. Re-creating the role he played in legit, Sherman gets the most from a character always hilariously funny.

Others in the stage-trained cast are Kenneth Thompson, Olive Tell, Purnell Pratt, Lou Payne and Bert Roach.

Also on the program is a Our Gang comedy entitled "School's Out."

"Chessair" New Game Wrinkle

WASHINGTON—Standard chess considered by many as the most difficult of games, has been further complicated by Army aviation officers who have added another plane of play above the usual checkered board.

The new game, called "chessair" was invented by Major Walter R. Weaver of Maxwell Field, Montgomery, Ala., where it has proved very popular, according to reports to the War Department.

In addition to the standard chess pieces, the new game introduces on the upper plane of transparent glasspieces bearing aviation nomenclature; bombardment, attack, pursuit, local observation, and distant observation. All of these new pieces move in relation to the standard kings, queens and pawns, having various degrees of ability to capture or check them.

Firing On Consul Held Accidental

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23—UP—What at first appeared a situation fraught with possibilities of strained relations between the Empire of Japan and the Republic of Guatemala, today lapsed into a mere accident, peaceably settled by "diplomatic apologies." Police determined that the bullet which entered the Guatemalan consulate window last night and narrowly missed Juan Anino, consul general, was accidentally fired by a clerk at the Japanese embassy across the street. "I shall explain and apologize to Senor Anino on behalf of the Japanese government," said Kaname Wakasugi, consul general for Japan.

Richmond Boys At Stanford Are Visited By Cow

A cow today had reaped the benefits of a Stanford university education.

At least the cow had gone thru Sequoia hall, Stanford men's living headquarters, led by two Richmond youths, Harry L. Carpenter Jr., and Marshall Kimball who were assisted by Will Silva, Half Moon bay.

When these youths returned to their living quarters at the dormitory after a visit to their homes they found "bossie" apparently at home in their rooms and munching away at the hay that had been strewn about their domicile.

The three lads immediately pitched the hay out of the window and tried the same method on the cow, but found that to be inexpedient.

Finally the cow was led through the dormitory by the boys who were looking for the owner. They found no one who admitted owning the animal and finally led her down the steps where she was turned loose on the campus.

While leading "bossie" to the various doors where she might be known by the students she emitted several "moos" which partially satisfied the three offended youths.

GLAND DOCTOR WILL STUDY RESEARCH

By HENRY T. RUSSELL
United Press Staff Correspondent
(Copyright 1930, by United Press)

GRIMALDI, Italy, Oct. 23.—UP—Exit Dr. Serge Voronoff as the "monkey gland" rejuvenator—at least as far as his personally conducting operations to prolong the life of man is concerned.

The famous French surgeon revealed to me in an interview that from now on he intends to devote most of his time to research work. He will leave the delicate operations to the hundreds of surgeons he has trained to perform the actual work on patients.

Dr. Voronoff also revealed that for over seven years in his laboratory here he has conducted secret experiments on diseases which afflict the human race. The results of the experiments, he hopes, in time may revolutionize medical science as his discovery that monkey-glands could be used to rejuvenate men startled the world ten years ago.

"The desire not to arouse flase hopes in the minds of sufferers from diseases hitherto reputed to be incurable prompts me to refrain from mentioning by name most of the illnesses for which we have been seeking remedies here for the past few years," Dr. Voronoff said. "However, I hope the time will soon come when I may be able to announce publicly some of the results we hope to attain.

"For the present, I want to confine our interview to the experiments which we have been, and still are, conducting with a view to relieving sufferers from diabetes. Our attempts consist of experiments the object of which is to study means of successfully grafting the pancreas. A diseased pancreas is a cause of diabetes.

"Up until two years ago it had not been possible to get the grafted pancreas to live longer than 33 days. This was, of course, a keen disappointment, for unless the grafted organ lives within the body to which it is transferred, the result is worthless. The organ must, in other words continue to live and function in its new surroundings as it did normally.

But Dr. Voronoff said their laboratory work had shown some measure of progress.

"Whether or not we can accomplish our object in this new field remains, of course, to be seen," Dr. Voronoff added. "We shall, of course, try the new technique on animals first. If that succeeds, we shall try human beings."

RED CROSS IN CITY LAUDED FOR WORK

The Red Cross, which is one of the agencies of the Richmond Community Chest that will receive support from the campaign opening November 3, has a long list of accomplishments during the past year, according to a report filed with W. W. Scott, chairman of the Chest campaign.

Preparation for disaster, and caring for the needs of all men disabled in the World War, are the two items receiving prior consideration in the Red Cross program. Service to the veterans looms large in the work in Richmond. The local chapter arranges for the solution of family problems, provides emergency relief, secures family histories and home conditions and cooperates with military and naval stations and hospitals looking to permanent solution of the problems.

During the past year the Chapter has sent to Mare Island and other veteran hospitals a large number of utensils and a conveniences including Christmas boxes, bath robes, decks of cards, cakes, and flowers. Twelve Christas bags were sent to men still in foreign service. Many entertainments were put on at various places where service men are receiving care. Two courses were given in first aid, a junior course for Boy Scouts in El Cerrito in which 14 Scouts passed, and a senior course in which 13 passed the tests. Other work included courses in home hygiene, swimming and life saving and home service.

The latter included small loans to able-bodied ex-service men out of work, and the securing of employment for jobless men.

The Red Cross, under Community Chest, hopes to expand the employment end of the program greatly during the coming year. Under the Chest new office arrangements will be planned where the work can be handled more efficiently. Following is a report giving some of the details of the Red Cross work during the past year:

21 transients, 12 of whom were aided in money or hospitalization.
3 correspondence cases.
14 information only wanted.
10 cases were turned over to the county, being requested for old age pension or state and county aid or civilian cases.
2 missing men located.
10 employment requests — employment obtained for four of these.
15 investigations for other agencies.
3 verification of World War service.
15 cases of claims against government, 1 death, 6 pensions, and 8 compensation.
6 adjusted service certificates obtained.
8 reports for Veterans Bureau or military authorities.
2 Veteran Bureau liaison service.
2 hospitalization only with no relief needed.
5 cases given clothes.
2 medical aid only.
8 legal aid only.
13 families given aid of many kinds but no financial aid needed.
22 families given money relief.

The Red Cross is one of six agencies which will derive support from the Community Chest appeal opening November 3, according to Scott. Scott said that there are now 400 American cities using the Community Chest plan for financing welfare work and that he has every reason to believe that Richmond will give its whole-hearted support to the movement. The Chest campaign will take place of the half dozen different appeals which have been previously made through the year to support the various agencies.

American, Scot Students Argue Thrift In Talk

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—UP—The one about the two Scotsmen and the two Yankees had its counterpart in a radio debate when students from Scottish universities argued the question of thrift with representatives of Bates College, Maine.

The subject was, "Resolved: That Thrift is not a Virtue," and they had a pretty hard time deciding who would sponsor the affirmative of such a heresy. But when the Highlanders threatened to swim back home if not permitted the negative side the domestic collegians consented to avoid an international incident.

Thus a visitor to the National Broadcasting company studios found Randolph A. Weatherby and Howard Thomas, down-easters, declaring against frugality and John MacComack of Glasgow university and Norman A. B. Williams of St. Andrews preaching the doctrine of saving.

Weatherby opened for the prosecution.

"The mortality rate is still too high," he said, "to encourage thriftiness. Penny-pinchers hoard their money and in the end either have to leave it to unworthy grandchildren or leave it to found a home for disabled bartenders or an institute for worn-out cavalry horses.

"Better," he continued, "to save while the saving was good. If there must be thrift let there be a system of social insurance rather than individual 'rainy-day' funds."

Wilson, whose gay red kilts couldn't be broadcast and excited radio engineers to redouble their energies in perfecting television, was the first of the invaders.

"Nothing saps independence like thriftlessness," he intoned. "Lack of thrift makes paupers and one pauper makes another. That accounts for the dole throughout Britain and the dole is demoralizing."

Thomas then stepped to the mithe hard stone wall of fact. Thirft certainly was no virtue in a time of business depression.

"If ten percent of the dollars are saved," he explained, "the manufacturers have only nine-tenths of their former market. Thrift causes people to buy less and curtails production."

There remained only MacComack who spoke with a brogue that was so thick it could have been cut with a claymore and served up on a sprig of heather.

"My opponents," he said, "have been butting their heads against the hard stone wall of act. Thrift means, 'care and prudence in the management of one's affairs'. With that definition in mind it is easy to see that thrift not only is a virtue but the most important virtue. Any sin or any crime is the opposite of thrift—the wasteful expenditure of energy."

No decision was rendered, but it was obvious that the Scotsmen had the edge—two minutes were left of the allotted half hour when the last man had finished.

CONFESSION OF GIRL'S KIN BALKED

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 23.—UP—A swift legal move by a young defense attorney tonight halted efforts to obtain a written confession in the investigation of the murder of Leona O'Loughlin, 10-year old school girl.

John M. Keating, the attorney, obtained an order from Distric Judge James G. Starkweather for a confeernce with Mrs. Pearl O'Loughlin, 30, stepmother of the slain child.

His appearance at police headquarters with the court order abruptly ended questioning of Mrs. O'Loughlin and Frank O'Loughlin, uncle of Leona, that had been in progress most of the day.

Writes Note

After the conference with her attorney, Mrs. O'Loughlin handed to Capt. Clark a signed statement which said:

"Please accept all your circumstantial evidence and let it stand at that."

She was led back immediately thereafter to her cell in the matron's quarters of the city jail.

Bill Filed

District Attorney Wettencal announced a bill of information charging her with murder will be filed in west side district court tomorrow.

He said no decision had yet been reached in the case of the uncle, who was taken into custody early today on the strength of statements made by Mrs. O'Loughlin during an all night inquisitorial session with A. T. Clark, captain of detectives.

The uncle blamed enmity of Mrs. O'Loughlin for her efforts to link him with the case.

In Conference

Through several hours of questioning, O'Loughlin did not swerve from statements made shortly after the body of Leona was found in the lake at Berkeley Park last Friday according to detectives.

Shortly after Frank O'Loughlin was led from the office of Capt. Clark, his brother, Leo O'Loughlin, father of Leona, was in conference for an hour with the head of the detective department.

Leo O'Loughlin, himself a city detective, had just returned from Fort Collins, where the body of Leona was buried today.

Glass Found

The father appeared on the verge of collanse as he emerged from the office. He still showed the signs of the illness with which he was seized on the night of Leona's disappearance; Oct. 14.

The illness of O'Loughlin was attributed by physicians to the effects of eating ground glass. Traces of this destructive agency were found in his stomach after he was removed to a hospital.

Ground glass also was found in the stomach of Leona when an autopsy was held after recovery of her body from the lake on Oct. 17.

Her head bore the marks of two sharp blows delivered before she was tossed into the waters of the lake.

Richmond Man Seeks Freedom

MARTINEZ, Oct. 23.—A writ of habeus corpus was petitioned for today by Garvin R. Caldwell, who is being held in the county jail facing charges of child abandonment. Caldwell formerly of Richmond was brought back from Oklahoma to face the charges.

When he appeared before Justice of the Peace Ray Standich of Crockett he was not informed of his constitutional rights, Leo Marcollo and Robert Collins, Richmond attorneys for the man said. At the same time the prosecution did not produce enough evidence to hold him to trial, they contend.

The petition is returnable before Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie.

How Women Are Rediscovering America

MARGUERITE MOOERS MARSHALL

COLUMBUS discovered America in 1492, but it's American women in recent years who have been most busily engaged in rediscovering it.

What we mean is this: American women, through their clubs, through their philanthropies and social services, most lately through their participation in politics, have been and are discovering the weak spots, the mistakes, the failures to function in American life, and these women are doing something about their discoveries.

In one sentence, women's organizations, everywhere in the United States, are trying—with no inconsiderable success—to put right what they discover to be wrong.

The news of what some of these latest American discoverers are accomplishing may be summed up appropriately in a Columbus Day column.

A group of New York women doctors, loyally supported by laywomen, has found something wrong with the death and disease rates for mothers and babies. The maternity death rate in the United States is higher than in any other civilized country, amounting to 6.5 deaths of mothers per 1,000 births. The death rate for mothers in New York City is lower, but, at 5.4 per thousand, it is still far too high. Having discovered this fact, the women doctors at the New York Infirmary for Women and Children—staffed exclusively by women—have been bending earnest efforts to make motherhood safer.

THEY have succeeded in their quest. They have cut the maternity death rate in their institution to $ 7 per thousand—almost half what it is for the country at large. They also have reduced the rate for stillbirth until it is 59 per cent lower per thousand in the infirmary than the average rate for the community.

But, after the babies got well born, these women discovered that they didn't stay as well as they should. Therefore, this woman-run hospital has opened a Well Baby Clinic, and on Oct. 21 will hold a Well Baby Contest, with cash prizes for the most nearly perfect baby between six and twelve months and between twelve and eighteen months, as well as for the most nearly perfect pair of twins between six and eighteen months of age. The contest is a direct result of discoveries made by the Well Baby Clinic as to the necessity of encouraging and educating many New York mothers in observing the rules of care and feeding necessary for keeping their children healthy.

THAT many of the ten million women in paid occupations in the United States are working under unfair, unhygienic, generally unsuitable conditions, and are earning too little, is a discovery made many times during the last ten years, by that efficient feminine organization, the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor.

What is the bureau doing about it? It is digging up the facts about women's work in each occupation. It is using women's clubs to send these facts over the country and to campaign for improvements in the status of wage-earning women when these improvements are necessary.

As an instance of this fact-finding, fact-spreading service, there may be cited a bulletin just published, A Study of Laundries and Their Women Workers in 23 Cities. Three of this bulletin's salient statements are that the median week's wage for laundry workers is but $16.10 for white women and $8.85 for Negro women; that almost half the women employed in laundries work forty-eight hours a week or less; and that the major hygienic problem is the heat and steam generated by the ironing.

WOMEN workers, especially those in the lower paid groups, do not get enough out of life. Their horizon is too often limited to working, eating, sleeping, with no chance for improvement. Women leaders in the Women's Trade Union League made this discovery with interesting results.

First at Bryn Mawr, then at other women's colleges, the Women's Trade Union League organized summer universities for workers, with scholarships. Girls went from shop or factory to cool green campus, and not only listened to real college lectures but roomed in college dormitories and enjoyed college sports and recreations for weeks at a time.

Now the Women's Trade Union League in New York is just beginning twenty-week winter courses for women. These courses include English, modern European history, literature, pottery, rhythmic dancing; also Work and Life, a New Approach to Economics—which is a course scheduled to take up problems of the machine age.

THE National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, which includes some 50,000 of the most successful American women, has discovered that the young worker was a problem—she goes to work without getting enough education. So the federation has established scholarships for girls, in communities all over the country, making it possible for them to get a high school diploma before taking a job.

Now the federation has also discovered that the older worker is a problem—she often can't find work at all after forty, and if the general tendency to discharge—or at least not to hire—experienced women persists, the life of every working woman will be shortened. So the federation, during the coming year, will make a special research into the difficulties of the business woman over forty, under the auspices of Dr. Lillian M. Gilbreth, noted industrial engineer and National Research chairman.

HOME women have discovered that they have to spend too much time and energy on their housework. Therefore, through the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs, they have opened and are successfully conducting a Home Making Center in the Grand Central Palace. Here not only the newest mechanical aids but the newest time-and-muscle saving processes for efficient housekeeping are demonstrated to every woman who wants to learn them. In the center's model apartment a motion specialist demonstrates such domestic processes as how to beat eggs without craning the neck or straining the arm, how to iron in a comfortable position, how to operate a washing machine without "breaking" the back, how to open the icebox with a minimum of effort. Even painless dishwashing is taught!

In a year and a half 125,000 women have registered at the center, and attendance of autumn brides in the cooking and home-making courses has been heavy the last few weeks. Furthermore, husbands often attend the sessions, and show real interest in the short cuts to domestic efficiency which are among the most useful discoveries of American women of today.

Cleanse Your Screens

IT is human nature to take down the screens in the fall and store them in the basement or some similar dry place. Store them dirt and all. But it saves time and trouble in the spring if the screens are put away in pristine condition. They should be brushed thoroughly to remove dust and grime, given a good cleaning with soap suds followed by a rinse with clean water, and when dry gone over every inch with oil to prevent the accumulation of rust. Wrap in heavy paper before storing.

Where there are screens for many windows, it is the part of wisdom to mark each screen so that it may be put back in its right place when late spring and summer come again.

A DISH A DAY

Demand for many staple foods remains about the same in our markets year after year, but every once in a while fads and fashions seem to affect our foods as greatly as they do our clothes and home furnishings. This is particularly true when the rising demand for certain edibles is based on a dietetic discovery. But since dietitians and doctors often disagree, fashions in food change just as others do.

KAREN HOLLIS

Within the past year the demand for canned or bottled tomato juice has become tremendous. Sour-kraut brine, formerly thrown away is now sold in large quantities. And almost as striking is the greatly increasing demand for calves' liver. The demand for the latter is expected to continue, even after the fanfare of its advocates dies down.

It was only three years ago that two noted scientists connected with Harvard University, Doctors Minot and Murphy, gave their enthusiastic approval to the frequent appearance of liver in the diet. Since that time, liver has graduated from its formerly humble place on the breakfast menu in many homes, and has come to be favored as the main course at dinner.

The only drawback in many households, my correspondents tell me, is that so little is known of varied ways of cooking liver. Broiled or sauted, it becomes monotonous.

There are many other ways of cooking liver. One of the best, I think, is this old English recipe.

HEART AND LIVER PIE

- 1 pound calves' liver
- 4 lamb hearts
- ½ bay leaf
- 2 onions, minced
- 2 cups tomatoes (canned)
- ½ cup minced celery
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- ½ teaspoon curry powder
- 2 cups mashed potatoes
- 1½ tablespoons flour

Cook the liver and the hearts separately. Boil the liver until tender in a very small quantity of salted water. Clean and quarter the hearts and put them on to boil in about a cup full of hot water. After they have cooked five minutes, add the bay leaf, tomatoes, onion, celery, salt, pepper, sugar, and curry powder. When the hearts are tender, remove them and cut hearts and liver in strips. Boil the liquid in which the hearts were cooked down to about one and one-half cupfuls, thicken with flour and strain. Mix this gravy with the liver and hearts and put in a deep baking dish. Top with mashed potatoes and put in a hot oven for about eight minutes to brown. Serve very hot.

Dampers in the Coal Range

YOU may buy the best coal for your kitchen range, but it requires air to make the coal burn, and this is regulated by the dampers, so it is advisable to know your dampers.

The ash-pit damper is the best source of air for the fire. It makes the fire burn, so open it when starting the fire and when you want the fire to burn up. It should be closed when the fire is burning well, when it is banked and when you dump the grate.

The damper over the fire directs the air to flow in above the fire. It should be closed when starting the fire. When the fire burns rapidly opening this damper a bit will shorten the length of the flames and give more heat. If opened too far it may cool the oven.

The oven damper checks the hot air from going up the stovepipe by carrying it into the oven. This damper should be closed as soon as the fire burns well. This will give a warm oven and you will use less coal.

The check draft damper in the stovepipe just above the range is not usually taken into consideration, but it should be kept closed except when the fire is banked.

The stovepipe damper is the most important one. It checks the heat from escaping up the chimney and controls the amount of fuel burned. When the fire burns too hard close this damper, for it checks the fire more effectually than the ash-pit damper. If the oven will not heat close the pipe damper.

Why Not Be a Successful Debutante?

SUNDAY NIGHT FROCK OF RUST COLORED VELVET

By Ann Roberts

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

KNOWING how to dress flawlessly—keeping in the young girl picture—taking on at the same time an unmistakable tinge of sophistication—this is the debutante of 1930-31.

Of course I know that she knows what she wants to wear and all about it. But then there are the right things and the wrong ones and, given a small amount of thought and attention the good is just as easy to do as the bad.

If you're the debutante with a million back of you, all is too simple. But, unfortunately, often the pocketbook is limited, and very much so in these hard-up days. Then learn it young and you'll have the knowledge once and for all just like 'rithmetic or gogerphy. A few dresses well done with all the correct accessories will go farther and give you a better time than a closet full of miscellaneous things that don't manage to hang together particularly well.

There's an old saying, "What you don't know can't hurt you," but in this case it can, for a right turn in this important crossroad of your life may, after all, land the millionaire.

Even have they gone so far at one shop as to have a special little section for debs only, and there advice is given by those who have been through the experience and know, on which dresses to buy and where to wear them. At Stern's they will help you with your problems.

* * *

All Through the Day

NOTHING could possibly be more smart or serviceable than the Vionnet dress of crepe satin, and the beauty of it is that you can wear it from morning until night under one of those lacy tweed coats with fur that are so very chic. You know very well how Vionnet can do the thing—gracefulness, ease, casualness and dignity all combined. The dress seems fairly to flow with the lines of the figure.

It is a stunning dress, outstanding of its kind, of which every girl should have one because she will find occasion after occasion where it will do service better than anything else she could have.

Of course the Vionnet is not the only dress of this sort that is possible but it is a wonderful example of the kind of thing which makes a good starting point on a wardrobe for young, or old for that matter.

Another absolute necessity is the dress for teas and afternoon parties of any sort. A velvet one is perfect, especially in black, for it does something for the very young that is most fascinating.

The one that has been sketched for this page has all the sweetness and charm that could be wished for and yet it is a very simple thing with its yoke and collar arrangement of shirred white chiffon and the cuffs on the ends of the three-quarter sleeves done in the same way. The skirt is flared, well cut and delicately made so that the character of the softness of the fabric is nicely carried out.

* * *

Sunday Nights, and So On

SOMETIMES the informal parties are the most important of all, and what to wear for them is one of the big problems. You must not be too dressy and you can't afford to wear your daytime clothes, for they look altogether out of place.

There's a simply lovely one of rust colored velvet with inserted panels of tucking and little short flared sleeves that has quite a swing to it. It does nicely for dinners at home or very informal ones elsewhere, for restaurant dining even and for late cocktail parties or those famous Sunday night affairs of real or fictitious value.

With this, one of the fur wraps or one of those that are trimmed in fur will make a nice ensemble. And the white fur wraps, be it said, can do a good deal of duty from 6 o'clock on. One of them is a good investment for the young thing just starting out for parties.

* * *

About Accessories

THE sable or sable dyed scarf is almost a necessity for wear with street clothes and to swing about your neck over a dress when your coat has been removed. They do a lot in the way of softening lines and preserving that becoming line about the face.

And the close hats—almost nothing—on the backs of the heads are ever interesting with your street clothes. A hat of this sort and one of the more elegant of sable scarfs are shown together on this page.

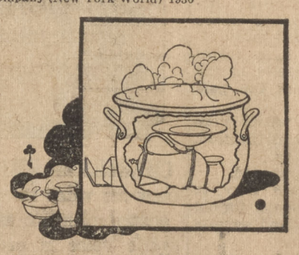
Silver Cleaned Easily

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

POLISHING or cleaning silver articles with silver polish is always tiresome if not actually laborious. There is a danger of removing the fine, glossy finish of the articles as well, or of scratching them, or of leaving powder in tiny crevices, or doing something equally objectionable. Silverware has become a rare ornament on our tables because of the worry and trouble of keeping it bright, yet we cannot do entirely without silver tableware of some sort, and that which we use must be kept bright.

The easiest way to do this is also the best way to keep the silver in the most perfect condition. A solution of one ounce of tartar (cream of tartar or the material that housewives used to make biscuits rise with) to four quarts of water heated to the boiling point, will clean the blackest silver if the article is immersed in the solution for ten to twenty minutes. The articles are then cooled and wiped hard with a soft chamois leather.

All kinds of silver plate can be cleaned in this manner and will maintain their original polish. The solution should be made fresh on each cleaning day, for tartaric acid solutions will spoil from keeping or turn into acetic acid which might be dangerous to use for cleaning silver.



Washing Metal Furniture

WITH the increased interest in simple modernistic furniture, painted metal pieces are enjoying a vogue. Beds, wardrobes, tables, chairs and chests of drawers reflect the newest form of interior decoration. One of the greatest advantages of these metal objects is the fact that they can be washed as easily as the brass door knobs. A soft brush or cloth and soapy lukewarm water are all that is needed to keep the soil from the surface. After rinsing and careful drying, they may be polished with a slightly waxed cloth.

FORD AND AUSTIN GO TO LUNCH

HENRY FORD, according to an A. P. dispatch, had lunch in London a few days ago with Sir Herbert Austin, manufacturer of the baby bantam car. We just know how the meal went off.

HENRY—Sir Herbert, this lunch is on me.

AUSTIN—No, Henry; I'll match you. (Sir Herbert tosses up an Austin car and it comes down with the transmission showing.)

HENRY—Tails; you lose.

AUSTIN—Tell me, Henry, how is business in America?

HENRY—It's so good I'm giving $27 a day minimum wages on our 1950 payroll. How are things with you?

AUSTIN—Great.

HENRY—And how's the new baby getting along?

AUSTIN—It's getting along fine. Do you know, Henry, my baby Austin has already got more public attention than the combined infants of the Lindberghs and the Duke of York!

HENRY—Congratulations, Sir Herbert. Back in America they are revamping all the old Ford jokes and bringing them out as new Austin gags.

AUSTIN—You mean the old model T jokes?

HENRY—Exactly. After we got the self-starter on the new model adjusted, it was practically joke-proof.

* * *

AUSTIN—It was a smart move putting the gasoline nozzle on the hood of your new model, Henry.

HENRY—It sure was. That move reduced curvatures of the spine in America 50 per cent.

AUSTIN—How?

HENRY—All other cars have their gas tank in the rear and drivers got broken necks and fractured vertabrae seeing that filling stations didn't cheat 'em—that is, until I put the gas cap on the front.

AUSTIN—My innovation was bringing out a car with no running boards.

HENRY—A very good idea. It saves people an extra step getting into your bantam. You could even get out a slogan on it—like "You don't have to walk up one flight to get into a bantam car."

AUSTIN—My only problem now is mass production.

HENRY—That should be easy. Why, right now you can double production of your baby cars by encouraging people to buy twins.

AUSTIN—You mean to sell each buyer two cars instead of one?

HENRY—Certainly. Or if he already has a big car, sell him one of yours to put on the rear as a spare.

* * *

AUSTIN—It's very nice to give me tips like this, Henry. After all, we're competitors in the small car field.

HENRY—Nonsense! Your midget car and my model A are no more in competition than a can of sardines can compete with a whale.

AUSTIN—Well, it's very sporting of you to feel that way. And, not wishing you any hard luck, we hope to sell a lot.

HENRY—You will, just from the replacements. Just think how many bantam cars will disappear in a year from going through open manhole covers. That's where you've got it on me.

AUSTIN—But you make a fortune from selling spare parts.

HENRY—My dear Sir Herbert, you can do the same. Why, as soon as America is flooded with bantams you can sell spare parts at every corner cigar store on the same counter with the razor blades, pocket lighters and chewing gum.

AUSTIN—Henry, you encourage me greatly, and this has been a delightful luncheon. And if you're going to leave that Ford runabout under the plate as a tip I'll slip this Austin to the checkroom girl for our hats.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."
Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

CARS WITHOUT LIGHTS TO BE BANNED

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 23.—Motor vehicles operating without head lights or without tail lights were ordered off the highways today.

Frank G. Snook, chief of the Division of Motor Vehicles, announced he had given an order to all officers of the California highway patrol, instructing them to stop such vehicles, when operated at night, and to refuse their drivers permission to proceed until the missing light or lights have been installed or until daylight.

The order applies to cars being operated with no headlights or only one headlight or no tail light.

Snook added, however, that it was aimed specifically at cars being operated without the red tail light required by law inasmuch as many fatal accidents growing out of the absence of tail lights have been reported within the last few months.

The same order will instruct the officers to see that the law is enforced requiring truck drivers to place a red light by night and a red flag by day on loads that extend four feet or more beyond the rear of the body of the vehicle. Snook stated several fatalities had been reported because drivers of comercial vehicles had failed to observe this law.

Explanatory of his order affecting the operation of cars without proper lights Snook said:

"There is no reasonable excuse for anyone being compelled to drive without proper lights for any appreciable distance.

"Thousands of service stations are scattered throughout the state where it is but the work of a moment to install a new globe or make minor repairs.

"The law-abiding motorist will check his lights occasionally to see if they are burning and will carry with him one or two extra globes at all times to avoid being caught out on the open road without lights.

"I regard the time as particularly propitious for the order. Winter is coming and with it shorter daylight hours for driving and fogs and rains that obscure the vision and make proper lights doubly important.

"In ordering hese cars from the roads we are doing nothing but carrying out the plain mandate of the legislature as set down in the motor vehicle act. No motorist has a shred of legal authoriey to move his car a foot on the highways unless it is properly equipped with lights as provided by the act.

"The man who operates without a tail light or without both headlights and causes a fatal accident thereby is guilty of nothing short of murder. I know of no words strong enough to condemn him.

Sisters Plan Military School

ANTIOCH, Oct. 23. — Erection of a military academy on the site of the old Antioch high school as soon as the new building is complete appeared more certain today following the practical acceptance of the $12,000 price for the property set by the school board, by the Sisters of Mercy at Rio Vista.

Plans for the purchase of the site have been under consideration for some time and the word received last night after the trustees offered to sell the three acre site for $12,000 led those in authority to believe that the deal would be completed in the near future. At the same time it was said that the Catholic Sisters would acquire a seven acre tract adjoining the school site for their new building.

Plans call for instruction of the new school by army officers. A full academic course would also be given at the school to boys between the ages of eight and 14 years, it was said. The present structure would be torn down for the erection of the new building.

WILBUR GIVEN EXTENDED LEAVE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—UP—Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, secretary of interior, will be president of Stanford University for another year, the board of trustees decided here late today.

The trustees made two qualifications, however, in extending Dr. Wilbur's leave of absence. They decided his salary should be stopped, and relieved Dr. Wilbur of all responsibilities of the university.

"The board of trustees of Stanford university has granted the request of Dr. Wilbur for a leave of absence as president of the university, without salary, for one year from Sept. 1, 1930," the announcement said. "The board has at the same time appointed Dr. Robert E. Swain as acting president during the period of Dr. Wilbur's absence.

"The board of trustees will, during his absence, look to Dr. Swain as active executive head of the university, to assume and exercise all the functions and responsibilities of the position of president."

The statement admitted that his activities as a cabinet member "are so complex, and so broad in scope, as to engage all his time and energy."

An editorial in the Stanford Daily, student publication, recently claimed that Dr. Swain was handicapped because all major problems of the school had to be passed upon by Dr. Wilbur.

Sailor Leaps Out Window To Escape Fish

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 23.—UP—Three pink porcupines and a sword fish chased Ernest Hoff, merchant seaman, 'round and 'round in his hotel room today so he jumped from the second floor window.

Hoff took the precaution of throwing out a matress to land on, but he missed it entirely when he landed. In a receiving hospital it was found he had broken both legs.

"Did I get away from 'em," he asserted jubilantly. "The porcupines weren't so bad, but the swordfish—I want none of 'em, land or sea."

Doctors said the swordfish had been accompanied by delirium tremens in its visit.

No Work At Boulder Dam

LAS VAGAS, Nev., Oct. 23.—UP—While preliminary work on the Boulder canyon dam project has been started, there will be no employment for either skilled or unskilled workers for several months it was said today.

Regular crews of a contracting firm are constructing the Union Pacific branch railroad to the dam site and scores of men who came here seeking work have been stranded. Housing conditions are sufficient at present only for those employed.

When construction on Boulder City is started several months hence there will be limited opportunity for skilled workers, but the work will be handled by imported contracting crews. Work on four huge diversion tunnels offering work to thousands of men will not be started until late next summer.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—UP—President Hoover, Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain, and Tsuneo Matsudairo, Japanese ministers in London, will speak over what approximates a world radio hookup at 10 a. m. Monday in celebration of the ratification of the London naval agreement it was announced today.

President Hoover is to speak first, from the White House at Washington. MacDonald and Matsudairo will follow in turn, sepaking from MacDonald's official residence at 10 Downing street, London. Each will speak for 10 minutes.

The speech will be transmitted in this country over a national broadcasting company network, and in England over the British Broadcasting companys stations. In addition the speeches will be sent over short wave transmitters in the United States, and thus may be received in any country in the world, it was said.

Two Injured In Oil Tank Blast

VENICE, Oct. 23.—UP— Two workmen were injured seriously and three houses damaged by fire and blast when a partly filled oil storage tank in the Venice oil field exploded late today.

Formation of gas was believed to have been responsible. E. C. Allen and J. F. Brown, the workmen injured, were removed to the Venice emergency hospital. The rear of one house was virtually blown away, but two tenants were in the yard when the blast occurred. Total damage was about $10,000.

CAMPAIGN IS DRAWING TO CLOSE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—UP—A time honored Republican campaign argument, that a Democratic congress would harm business, is being brought to the forefront for the final two weeks of the campaign.

Through the party's speakers bureau and the national committee's statements which provide a keynote for the campaign, this idea is being hammered before the public in every speech.

Special emphasis is being given to the argument that the whole world is in a bad fix; that the depression is world-wide, that the United States is not suffering as badly as other countries, and that congress must not be put in the hands of men who will block the president. The Republican national radio speeches empahsize this, and the speakers in various states bring it into their local discussion of issues.

The Democrats are firing back hotly, contending first that the president is partly to blame for the depression, that his remedial steps have been ineffective, and that the tariff is responsible for reducing foreign trade. They also claim the Democrats have opposed the president on political issues, not on non-partisan measures for the public welfare.

Insull Employes To Aid Unemployed

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—UP—Samuel Insull, head of a group of mid west utility concerns valued in excess of three billion dollars announced tonight that employes and officers of his companies will donate one day's pay a month to give relief to unemployed.

Insull's program, the most far reaching announced by a private concern in the present industrial depression, will continue for the next six months. The contributions, he said, were wholly voluntarily but responses already received indicate every employe is joining.

The cost of a call from the Pacific coast to any point in Australia will be $57 for the first three minutes and $19 for each additional minute.

Moose In Plans For Big Dance

Richmond Moose's old time dance for the night of November 1 will be in the form of a Hallowe'en party, E. B. Lowery, dictator of the lodge announced last night following the regular session of the group.

The old time dances that have been given in Moose hall every Saturday night have proved successful, Lowery announced, and plans were approved for their continuance last night. Cecil Wright will be the leading figure at the dance November 1. Tomorrow night the lodge will sponsor its regular dance, and a large crowd is being planned for the occasion.

SCOUT COURSE HERE PLANS CAMP

Twenty - three Richmond Boy Scouts being drilled in a six-day training course will not meet tonight R. F. Cox, Scoutmaster of the group announced last night. Two class meetings will be held next week to qualify the members for the awards given by the National Scout Council for the six-day training course.

Saturday the 23 will meet at Alvarado park for an overnight encampment which will include work during part of the following day. Three o'clock has been the time set for tomorrow afternoon's meeting, when camp will be made and instruction in outdoor cooking and other camp essentials will be explained in detail by the course leaders. F. C. Schallenberger will speak Saturday evening on "Scoutmaster's Opportunity."

Sunday morning William McCoy, safety engineer for Standard Oil company will instruct the class in a short course in map making. The remainder of the day will be spent in nature study and hiking.

Monday the speaker for the regular class meeting will be A. R. Groenink, Scout executive of Alameda council. His topic will be "Patrol Units in Scouting." Classes will end with the meeting Tuesday evening and awards will be made to the Scouts at the county rally.

Charles De Wolf, assistant field executive of Oakland council spoke to the Scouts last night on "Duties of Troop Committees." Assisting Cox in the work of directing the course is Louis Rasmussen, senior patrol leader.
